

SPARTACANS PLANNED FOR SOVIET REPUBLIC

Expected to Win in Latest Uprising Within Five Days and Proclaim New Government

REGIMENTS WERE TOO LOYAL

Failed to Calculate on Soldiers Remaining True to Ebert—Failure Is Now Admitted.

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Saturday, March 8.—The Spartacists' leaders in the Berlin strike movement had a detailed plan for the overthrow of the government within a definite brief period, it is shown by Spartacist papers captured by the government forces. Among these documents was an elaborate plan by the Spartacists for mapping out the course for the insurrection and showing that it counted on a triumphant conclusion in five days, the movement to culminate in the proclamation of a soviet republic.

The leaders knew the government would call a "strong force" of troops to Berlin, but they counted on winning over various organizations. Their plan of campaign named Alexander Platz, adjacent to police headquarters as the rendezvous of the strike leaders. The first day's objectives were the capture of police headquarters, which the Spartacists were so confident of achieving that they had already announced handbills announcing the capture of the headquarters and the selection of the government troops, the latter announcement anticipating the defection of the nations and the republican guards.

The second day's objectives were the imperial palace, the reichstag building and the district den Linden district. The third day's objectives were the chancellery, the war ministry and the other ministerial buildings. For the fourth day was set the capture of the railway stations and the newspaper districts while the fifth day was complete the capture of Berlin was a climax reached by the proclamation of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

The plan failed because the outside regiments proved incorruptible and of high fighting qualities. The casualties, although they had not been definitely established at this writing, probably far exceeded that of the January revolution. The Berlin morgue to-morrow will complete the count of the day, it was a climax reached by the proclamation of the dictatorship of the proletariat.

After their loss of the police headquarters district, the Spartacists organized a new center of resistance. The next day's objectives of Berlin, and today were working with through this district using artillery and mine throwers and now had them dislodging their opponents from the barricades and other points of resistance.

Artillery fire also was heard occasionally from the western suburbs where the Spartacists had concentrated to start a new revolt. Some sniping and roof fighting also was reported from various disturbed sections of the city.

Even the radicals, however, admitted today that the revolt and the accompanying strike were doomed to failure.

MRS. DAVIDSON ASKS $300 MONTHLY ALIMONY

Alleging that her husband by repeatedly and constantly telling her that he would drive her from home, until his actions impaired her health, Verne Davidson filed suit in the state court Tuesday afternoon for divorce from Everett J. Davidson, a real estate salesman.

Temporary alimony in the sum of $400 per month is sought by Mrs. Davidson, who declares that it will take that amount to maintain her in her accustomed social standing. She says that the defendant is well able to pay this sum as he has property worth about $30,000 and has earned and may be expected to earn about $10,000 annually.

A restraining order was obtained from Judge Brown to prevent Davidson from disposing of any of his property and to prevent the First National bank from paying out any money which he has on deposit.

The petition states that the defendant filed a suit for divorce against the plaintiff on April 24, 1918, for no other reason except to harass and humiliate her. She declares that only recently she learned that this suit was dismissed on the following day, but that the defendant has continually told her that it was being continued from time to time and was still pending.

She also asks $250 for a retainer's fee for her attorney, Randolph, Haver & Shirk and LeMoine Stroud.

BOHN SEEKING A WAY TO AVOID POLICE CUT

According to P. M. Bohn, city commissioner of police and fire, it is improbable that the contemplated reduction of Tulsa's police force will be made in the near future. The commission believes he has convinced Mayor Hubbard of the necessity of maintaining the present force, which at its best is inadequate for giving Tulsa the necessary police protection.

Commissioner Bohn protested vigorously when overruled at a recent commission meeting, where it was decided that a cut of 10 from the police force would be necessary to finish the fiscal year without exceeding the appropriation made for this department. Since that time Mr. Bohn has talked with other members of the commission and believes they will consent to the transfer from other departments of sufficient funds to run the police department.

EXEMPTIONS EXPLAINED UNDER INCOME TAX LAW

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Persons who married or had children during 1918, or who lost dependents through death, are affected by a new ruling today by the internal revenue bureau to the effect that the family status on the last day of the year should determine the personal exemption. Under the previous rule, a person was entitled to exemption for only the part of the year in which he had dependents.

With this reversal of policy, those who have already filed returns on the former basis now must file amended returns. This amended report may be made at any time, however, even after next Saturday when the period for filing income returns closes.

The revenue bureau announced that a taxpayer should be guided by the following schedule of exemptions for dependency:

If married and living with a wife or husband on the last day of the year, the exemption allowed is $2,000. If the wife or husband is physically supported in his household December 31, one or more relatives who were dependent upon him may claim the $2,000 exemption.

Additional exemption of $200 is allowed on each person who was dependent upon taxpayer on December 31, if the dependent is under 18 years of age or is physically incapable of self-support.

The revenue bureau revised its former ruling because thousands of persons failed to understand the rule and swamped collectors' offices with inquiries.

CULVER AND COBB TAKEN TO FEDERAL PENITENTIARY

CREEL WILL RETIRE FROM OFFICIAL POST

Chairman of Committee on Public Information Returns From Europe and Will Return to Private Life.

NEW YORK, March 11.—George Creel, head of the committee on public information in Washington, announced today on his return from Europe the transport Aramco's intention to "return to private life."

"I am no longer with them," said Mr. Creel, when asked for a statement about his activities in Europe for the committee. "I called a statement from Ernest. Was it not released?" he asked.

When his questioners informed him that a taxpayer should be guided by the following schedule of exemptions for dependency:

If married and living with a wife or husband on the last day of the year, the exemption allowed is $2,000.

SUGGESTIONS BY TAFT Considered in Paris

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, March 11.—The amendments to the draft of the league of nations plan which have been proposed by William Howard Taft are receiving the close study of the various delegations to the peace conference.

The understanding prevails that the suggestions made by Mr. Taft might be adopted if assurance could be had that the reopening of the whole subject would not be involved and that further amendments would not be offered by other nations. It is generally admitted in well-informed circles, however, that some French and Italian proposals are to be expected.

The ground is being canvassed quietly in an effort to secure further information of the points raised by Mr. Taft's anticipatory to the arrival of President Wilson, who must render final judgment on the draft.

It is beginning to show the slightly sign of a "let-down"—if you are losing your old time "pep" and vigor—if high tension energy and nervous strain are beginning to tell on you—it's a sure sign that you are getting "old"—too old for your years. You've reached that stage where your vital forces need rebuilding. Don't make the serious mistake

COURT-MARTIAL HELPS GET DRILL ATTENDANCE

Several privates who have not been appearing regularly for drill appeared before Judge Advocate Remington Rogers at the Oklahoma national guard armory Monday night and explained their reasons for being absent. The court listened to pleadings of the men, assessed small fines where military justice demanded and released those offenders who made good cases for themselves. The proceedings were brief as there were few cases to be heard, indicating that the activities of the court-martial are producing better attendance upon the drills of the several Tulsa organizations.
